

February 25, 2012
11:00am & 3:00pm

"The Reluctant Dragon"

Written, designed and directed by David Stephens

Loosely based on the book Kenneth Grahame's book,
Puppets created by David Stephens
Costumes by Sottie Rowell

David Stephens has been a puppet-lover all his life. As a child, he was fascinated by the work of Muppets creator, Jim Henson. Setting his life's course early on, Stephens has taken a hobby and made it a career.

After graduating from the University of Connecticut with a Masters degree in Puppet Arts in 2001, Stephens returned to the South and started his puppet company, All Hands Productions. In the last decade, he has done thousands of shows in venues across the United States. He has also worked as a puppeteer for "Sesame Street," Muppet Studios, and The Jim Henson Company. Stephens currently resides in Atlanta, GA. When not puppeteering, you can probably find him playing his banjo.

For more information about "The Reluctant Dragon", David Stephens, and All Hands Productions please visit: www.AllHandsProductions.com

The Jane Henson Foundation

THE JIM HENSON FOUNDATION

Puppetry at the Carriage House

Thank you for coming, we're excited to be featuring three artists this Spring. Our next P.A.T.C.H. Artist-in-Residence work-in-progress presentation will be Evolve Company's "Home" on Friday March 30, 2012, and Double Image Theater Lab with "A Chance Shadow" on Friday April 20, 2012