Other Atlantas: A Prologue

Other Atlantas: A Prologue is the first installment of a ritual celebration of survival. This is the part of the story where we take time to remember why celebration is needed at all. A moment to remind ourselves of the cycles of destruction and dispossession that we find ourselves falling into throughout human history. A moment to remember all those who kept on anyway. Why do we continue on when we know the cycle persists? How do we continue on?

This residency has been made possible through funding and support by The Jane Henson Foundation, Heather Henson, The Jim Henson Foundation and La MaMa. Photographs by Steven Pisano.
